Society needs more people like you!

Every Wednesday we get together to hold a conversation around the Weekly Question we post on Mondays on our platform. Through this, PIMOV offers the opportunity to explore more about who you are, co-learning and co-evolving with others like you, and discovering the potential of daring to be who you are.

PIMOV Pills are extractions of these sessions. Here, Jeannette Meier shares what she's aiming for herself/her Self today. By living from the inside-out, she lives in the present, knowing that tomorrow her aim (purpose) might change as she continues evolving.

What is your aim for yourself today?

Dare to dream as big as Mandela!

We co-learn, co-evolve and co-create a socially-conscious society by daring to be who we are!

We are currently running June's PIMOV Program which highlights the limitless potential that exists to positively iMPACT in daring to be who you are and co-creating with others like you .

We are now half-way through in this journey. In the past two workshops, we've explored how evolution and iMPACT are intimately connected through being and collaborating. We've discovered more about who we individually are, exploring the different points of view, understanding also the great importance of nurturing who we are. The next two sessions will allow us to explore deeper about creativity, experience and practice, reinforcing the possibilities of positively impacting through our power of being.

These sessions are hosted in love and respect by our members for our members.

Join us in co-creation. Safely and freely explore, experience and practice being who you are and creating what you love!
