To our friends and movement,

Today, I express myself with an open heart, showing my vulnerability, and as that which I am.

Today, it is the "I am" who is writing.

The one that loves transparency and communication.

The one that loves you and that believes in each of your Power of Being, because everyone has the freedom to be who they are and to create what they love.

I am in love for life. I am in love for growth. I am you, and you are me, always.

I learn through exploring and experiencing, integrating the lessons through constant observation.

I am not the creator of what I create - the Positive iMPACT Movement.

I am in mere service to what it is (to become).

I continuously am learning to listen to my inner guidance and to discover new experiences that are guiding me into what this Movement is.

This makes me think of the spiral of evolution, the Spiral of Positive iMPACT, going back to certain points of time where PIMOV existed in this way, but where I was not ready for it and let myself be guided by the external world.

Leaving everything behind, changing PIMOV to adjust to other's needs and requirements, and letting some members leave because I was not listening to my Self.

Today, I am back at this point where PIMOV might change into its very initial state.

But today, I have integrated the lessons I did not have initially. And so has PIMOV.

Today, I love and value myself.

Today, I have learned to be me, to connect to the heart and express myself from the inside-out.

Today, I know that whatever I am, I create.

Change comes from within, and not the other way round.

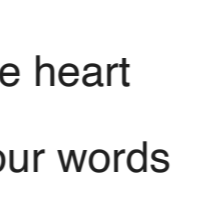

With lots of love and gratitude,

Jeannette & your PiMOV Family

Trust the heart

Trust your words

Trust yourself

For you are the one to change yourself.

Change comes through you

No one else's responsibility

From the inside-out

For you to co-create the new world.

The world needs you!

The Power of Being is your freedom to be who you are and to create what you love.

Being who you are is living from the inside-out, flowing wholeheartedly in love and respect for yourself and everyone who surrounds you.

It is getting rid of patterns, beliefs, and anything that holds you back from flowing freely into your being.

When you are, you do from the heart.

Your creation (project, sessions, community, etc) is enhanced through your presence, love and value for yourself.

What comes from the heart can only Positively iMPACT.

Connect, co-create and grow for a better future

Co-creation is about giving and receiving, without giving anything up, on the contrary, by summing up through individuality and togetherness.

Socially-Conscious Leadership does not exist if you are not co-creating with others like you.

Embrace your resilience and courage for what you are transforming through your uniqueness and exploration.

Co-create with your like-minded others, and share the Socially-Conscious Leader that you are.

#togetherwearelimitless

Let yourself flow in the stream

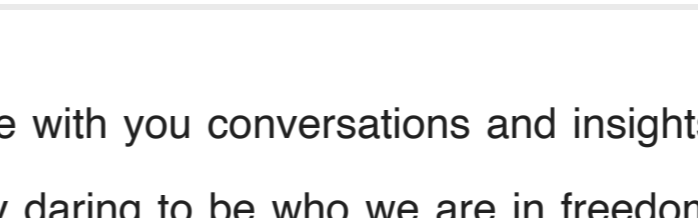

Of love and intuition

Of uniqueness and co-creation

For you to create what you love.
